Notes

Sauvignon is unquestionably the most famous grape-variety in the world. The fruit that goes into the Deux Moulins blend comes from gravel and schist vineyards located between Anjou and Tours. Vinified at cold temperatures in stainless steel tanks to emphasize the fruit-forward nature of the wine. Crisp, light, and juicy.

About Deux Moulins

Paris Wine Company founder Joshua Adler uses his intimate knowledge of French wine regions and connections with producers to create custom bottlings. The project mission is to find good wines at good prices with good labels. The Deux Moulins wines come from traditional grapes of the Loire Valley. The White is 100% Sauvignon Blanc and the red is 100% Pinot Noir. Each year, Paris Wine Company tastes and selects the best cuvées for the Deux Moulins label.
